

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

It seems clear to me, as I believe it would to most rational people, that by deciding to air this documentary Sinclair Broadcasting is engaging in partisan politics. One might question why they would not air the reading of soldiers' names who were killed in Iraq earlier this year, which is clearly news and is relevant to the current war we are in, but they have no problem endorsing and airing this documentary two weeks before a very important election. It is my sincere hope that you will do everything in your power to stop Sinclair from airing this documentary and engaging in partisan politics in the future. Thank you for your time.
